

Hakaya

Volunteering with Hakaya

Volunteer with Hakaya and become a part of their work to promote and support the Palestinian civil society through storytelling and travelling.

- Exchange your knowledge and expertise within the field of storytelling
- Practice and develop your skills in a whole new political and cultural context and be part of Hakaya's work with sharing stories of the Palestinians and creating positive change
- Expand your network to the Palestinian storytelling scene and be part of a dynamic and inspiring team
- Volunteer and share your experience within a meaningful setting and take part in the artistic exchange between Denmark and Palestine

The organization

Hakaya is a culmination of several years of cooperation and dialogue amongst various individuals and groups in the Arab world regarding the centrality of “stories” in individual development, and cultural growth. This project brings together artists, oral historians, storytellers, and educators in a network, residencies, workshops, and an itinerant festival which will present “storytelling” in its various forms and show how it enriches the theatre, the arts, and how it is crucial to the development of literacy and the formation of identity and intercultural dialogue.

Located in Ramallah, Palestine.

Current available volunteer positions:

Storyteller

- A skilled storyteller who can share their experience with storytelling
- Good communication- and performance-skills
- Be able to train and direct other storytellers
- A degree in a relevant field such as theatre, creative writing etc is an advantage
- Demonstrate experience in crafting compelling narratives for advertising purposes
- Preferably able to volunteer for two weeks to three months
- No age-limit